ProDictate Mobile
Data Sheet

ProDictate Mobile is a professional dictation app designed for easy use and configuration. It will transform your mobile device into a full voice recorder with numerous features.

Set-Up and Configuration, and Technical Features
It's hard to find adequate dictation software that is both secure and easy to configure from the back end. What sets ProDictate apart from its competitors is its security and the ease at which it can be integrated into a company's software portfolio. Many pieces of software require too much time and effort to integrate into a workforce. Troubleshooting is time-consuming and prohibitive. ProDictate Mobile simplifies these issues by streamlining the configuration process.

- Full recording device for your smartphone
- Integrated into ProDictate dictation workflow system
- Backend speech recognition, with recognized text sent back function
- Custom configuration via the backend system
- Dictations can be sent securely via Email, HTTPS, Dropbox, OneDrive
- ProDictate seamlessly integrates into the company database
- Supports Blackberry Dynamics Secure Container and MobileIron
- Utilizes the latest HTMLS technology
- Quick and easy licensing
- Remote configuration while user is active

Implementation, Security, and Backend Support
All businesses have security needs, but not all dictation apps can support these needs. Making sure corporate apps are configured properly and are secure often requires time-consuming one-on-one attention from your IT department. ProDictate Mobile removes these roadblocks by streamlining the implementation process throughout your business.

Devacon understands that users should be spending more time actually using the program, rather than being responsible for configuring it themselves. With this in mind, ProDictate was designed so IT professionals can remotely configure the app from the backend, with no effort needed from the user. The result here is less room for error as users won't have to make changes to app settings themselves.

We understand that integrating new mobile technology into your company is often prohibitively time consuming and expensive. This isn't always the case! ProDictate Mobile was built from the ground up specifically to integrate into your workforce quickly and easily. Our team is on standby to help your company take the next steps in mobile solutions. We're convinced that when you test ProDictate Mobile, you will see just how simple and easy our mobile solution is.
